// MESSAGE //

I felt very happy that the Office of the Registrar of Cooperative Societies, Meghalaya, Shillong is bringing out a booklet entitled "Achievement of the Cooperative Movement in the State", with a theme "A Way Ahead, Miles to go" which can motivate and spearhead the Cooperative Movement in the State.

Cooperatives, being a value based movement has a never ending relevance. Its basic values viz; honesty, democratic functioning, mutual concern and self-reliance are universal values which can only lead towards progress and success.

Cooperatives have the strength of members – which if utilized properly can create wonders. If Cooperatives run by members had qualified professional and competent members then the empire built by them on democratic lines would be one which may remain on the top because the participative characteristic of Cooperative will ensure that all the best resources are pooled effectively. The Anand Milk Union Ltd (AMUL), the Indian Farmers Fertilizers Cooperative (IFFCO) etc., are the best models of Cooperative professionalization and competent members.

Cooperatives will have to transform their entire work culture of both individual units and integrated structures to improve their resources, operational efficiency and adoption of result oriented outlook. The Cooperatives should make excellence a habit which will give them a vision for future.

This booklet will rejuvenate every co-operator in the State to look into the blank spaces, review the growth of the Cooperative Movement and harness the potentialities and resources which can be fully utilized by the under-privileges and weakers sections of the Community to attain socio-economic livelihood through Cooperatives.

I wish this informative and motivated booklet as a source of Cooperative knowledge and inspirations to the un-employed youth, women and the poor sections of the community in the State.

Roshan Warjri.

Letter from the Desk of the Registrar of Cooperative Societies,
Dr. B.D.R. Tiwari, IAS.

The Cooperative Movement in the State has widened its potential aspects to various fields of economic livelihood for the Cooperative members during the last 3(three) years and making Cooperative Societies into self-reliant micro-business enterprise while ultimately enabling them to be a nucleus of rural development.

Presently, Cooperative activities have spread to diverse fields of economic activity ranging from credit marketing, consumers, handloom & handicrafts, dairy, poultry, processing, fishery, piggery, multi-purpose, rural tourism and Integrated Village Cooperative Societies.

The Government in order to make the Cooperative Societies more vibrant in its functioning has enacted the Meghalaya Cooperative Societies Act, 2015 (Act No.11 of 2015) and incorporated the mandatory provisions of the 97th Constitution (Amendment) Act, 2011.

Capital base and Managerial needs of Cooperative Societies continue to be strengthened in the shape of Share Capital Contribution and Managerial Subsidies through a regulated Guidelines for providing financial assistance to Cooperative Societies which was notified by the Government in the early part of 2016 which mandates that there should be a proportionate contribution from the Cooperative Societies with that of the State Government.

The Department in collaboration with the Meghalaya Basin Management Agency under the Integrated Basin Development Livelihood Programme of the State Government has conceptualized formation and establishment of Integrated Village Cooperative Societies (IVCS) to reach out the needed populace of the State through Financial Inclusion and access to market linkages under the Meghalaya Livelihood and Access to Market Projects (MeghLAMP) which is an IFAD funded Project

This booklet will act as an informative text on the growth of the Cooperative Movement but will hold its strength and endeavour to forecast a potential joint entrepreneurship for the weaker sections, unemployed youth, women and underprivileged sections of the community for their economic livelihood through formation of Cooperative Societies.

Dr. B.D.R. Tiwari, IAS,

Introduction:

- The mutual economic and social Cooperation and Cooperative way of life are not new to the tribal community. Sharing common programmes, living in a Cooperative way, mutual help and assistance, other community based activities is a part of tribal tradition and a way of life in Meghalaya. However, when the formal Cooperative Movement based in the "Principles of Cooperation", "Cooperative Values" and Cooperative Societies Act & Rules was promulgated in a structured manner, it did not percolate well to the people of the grassroots level and it took considerable time for the people of the grassroots level to understand and appreciate the system before final acceptance.

- Cooperative Movement is a Peoples' Movement.
- Cooperatives are autonomous association of person united voluntarily for their common economic, social and cultural needs and aspirations through a jointly owned and democratically control enterprise with principle of equity being paramount. People joins together and pooled their little resources for socio economic growth and upliftment by initiating various economic activities by honest means.
- Cooperatives are based on the value of self help, self responsibility, democracy, equality, equity and solidarity.

- In Meghalaya, the formal Cooperative Movement was started during the composite statehood of Assam. The initial attempt to thrust Cooperation and Co-operatives extensively resulted in mushrooming of Cooperatives in the tribal areas. The Cooperatives were organized hastily without proper arrangement for guidance and training for running the affairs of Cooperatives as economic organization / entrepreneurs. The end result was that most of the Cooperatives were short lived and existed by names in the domain of the Cooperation Department of the State.

- Prior to emergence of Meghalaya in the year 1970 as an autonomous State within Assam and thereafter as Full Fledged State on 21st January, 1972, most of the Cooperative Societies organized during the erstwhile State of Assam in the areas which formed Meghalaya, majority were unviable, defunct and non-functional. The first task of the Government of Meghalaya was to re-organise the base level Cooperative Societies and to regain the loss of faith of the common people particular the farmers and village community.

MECOFED is setup with a simple reason and with a vision to uphold and strengthen the Cooperative Movement in the State of Meghalaya and achieve its objectives has gradually improved itself which may be seen from the above achievement result. The holistic movement may be seen from operation of its activities including procurement of Minor Forest Produces from poor rural tribals enabling them to fetch good prices of their produces. Moreover this entry in above activities has to a great extent prevented growers and farmers from the clutches of unscrupulous middleman. So, this endeavour is encouraged by the fact to help poor tribal in maintaining a congenial economy and sustain themselves in their day to day livelihood. So it is expected that grassroot societies look forward and join hand for the above cause.

The above achievement could have been made many folds should members of Cooperative Societies join hands together for a simple reason to strive forward to a better economy through concrete platform. It may be mentioned that enormous scope on how to tap and utilize the abundant natural resources, be it forest, or agricultural produce or products are available in these beautiful hilly areas, yet lack of willingness and hard work with a sense of responsibility has handicapped all such prospects. A simple identification may be indicated that a larger section of indigenous rural population are living a complacent character where hardly one tells another for a united spirit to strengthen themselves and form a strong primary cooperative society at the grass root level. Thus, it is a call of the day that each Cooperative now mends own minds and thoughts and come forward for a better growth by way of producing a surplus quantitative and qualitative product for marketing purpose. If above difficulties or stresses are combated, it is hoped that strengthening of the Cooperative movement in Meghalaya in particular, and the Country in general will boost the economy and mitigate rural distress, but lot will depend on cooperative's will to carry forward for a better tomorrow.

PROBLEM TO BE OVERCOME :

This sector has various inherent problems that need to be addressed to :-

(i) The activity being time consuming and low income generating, the present generation of artisans are not ready to embrace these activities as full time profession, as such this art is gradually languishing.

(ii) The Market of our products are limited to local demands only, as such it is necessary that the products are diversified in order to create a larger consumer base.

(iii) The artisans follow the old traditional methods of production which consume time and mandays in production and they are not ready to change to modernized method easily.

To sum up, this Federation is putting all its efforts to address these problems in its endeavor to bring about a change for economic improvement of the rural artisans and weavers.

The Meghalaya State Housing Financing Cooperative Society Ltd., was registered on the 10th May, 1976 under the Meghalaya Cooperative Societies Acts and Rules 1951 and thus completed 40 years of the registration.

The Apex Housing Cooperative Society previously had witnessed an era of complete Nonfunction and disfunction but the present Management in its genuine, sincere and untiring efforts to turn around the Society into a viable service oriented, self sustaining, profit generating Society with a spin off effect which will percolate to the Primary Housing Cooperative Societies in the State, embarked upon a "ROAD MAP" for the next five years (2012-2016) for growth and development with a two (2) pronged strategy keeping in mind Housing as a capital intensive activities and source of capital required to be insured first.

The present Management of the Apex Housing Society has turn around the Housing Cooperative into an effective instrument of Socio-Economic service with spontaneous participation of the people to meet the peoples genuine urge and felt needs of "SHELTER" through Housing Cooperative Societies.

Liberalization of economy has thrown a new challenge for survival of Cooperative in the country and also from agencies within the country and outside with international ramifications.

I. To maximize the income generating capacity of Apex Housing Society by taking up immediate viable construction works.

II. Optimal and full utilization of own land in the Housing Complex at Nongrim Hills, Shillong and other places.

III. Judicious utilization of financial assistance received from the State Government.

IV. The Management decided not to sanction any loan further to the members of the Primary Housing Cooperative Society Ltd., but would take up itself the construction of housing / trade centre complex according to the need and requirement of the Primary Housing Societies having their own land.

VITAL ACTIVITIES UNDERTAKEN:

I. Amended the authorized share capital of the Apex Housing Cooperative Society Ltd., from Rs. 10 crore to Rs. 50 crores. Paid-up Share Capital as on 31-03-2015 stands at Rs. 8,18,90,951.52p, Government Rs. 8,17,74,644.00 and Primaries Rs. 1,16,307.52.

Another 13 (thirteen) Nos. of amendment carried out with approval from the appropriate authority for Bye-laws No. 1(a)(b), 6(2), 14(1). 16(2), 19.20, 22.32(1)(d), 33.39(1), 39(4), 51(3) and 55.

V. The Management of the Apex Housing Society under the one time settlement package had exempted / reversed the penal interest of the housing loan of loanee members of the Primary Housing Cooperative Societies in order to encourage them for the full settlement of their housing loan. Loanee members had response in a very positive manner and the Apex Housing Society had recovered a total amount of Rs. 1,05,746.00 during 2015-2016.

VI. "STRUCTURAL AUDIT" of building as desired by the National Cooperative Housing Federation of India and Registrar of Cooperative Societies, Meghalaya, Shillong has already been incorporated in Bye-laws of the Apex Housing Society.

VII. The Classification, Control, Discipline and Appeal Rules 2010 for the Employees of Apex Housing Society was introduced w.e.f. 12-07-2010.

VIII. Revision of Pay Scale and other allowances was extended to the Apex Society's Employees w.e.f. 01-01-2010.

The Management untiring sincere efforts as narrated above, bear fruits and the accumulated loss of the Society for (-) Rs. 47,49,505.91 during 2006-2007 converted to a profit earning Society during 2014-2015 (+) Rs. 74,44,433.11. The Management of the Apex Housing Society has paid dividend to the State Government. The statutory audit of the Apex Housing Society has been completed for the financial year 2014-2015.

The benefits of Cooperative Housing are of particular relevance, especially, for the members of the lower strata of the society where the need for better shelter is growing at a faster rate. Government alone will never be able to solve the housing problem and that every resource, including those of the Cooperative Sector and the prospective participant must be utilized. The Apex Housing Society is confronting multiple problems and constraints.

1. There is no Government land in Meghalaya for allotting to the Housing Cooperative in Urban Areas. The land is very scare and costly.
2. The Housing Cooperatives are categorized as Non tribal, as such exemption notification from the State Government is required.
3. In the State, almost every village of the District has its own land tenure systems where the legal title of the land can not be legally ascertain.
4. Heavy default by the loanee members of the Primary Housing Cooperative Societies has effected the Apex Housing Society immensely. The Management of the Apex Housing Society had initiated one time settlement package for the full settlement of over due loan of the loanee members of the Primaries. The persuasive measures of the Management has yielded results, as many defaulting members are coming forward to repay the loan dues.

The Management of the Apex Housing Society is ushering a new era of growth and development and “SHELTER” for the people / members of the lowest strata of the Civil Society with generous support from the State Government aspires to become a “Model Cooperative Society” in the State as well as in the whole of North Eastern Region.

THE SHILLONG COOPERATIVE URBAN BANK LTD.

The Shillong Cooperative Urban Bank Ltd. is one of the oldest banks in the State having been established in the year 1965. The early years were not easy for the bank, but today it is considered as vibrant and efficient as other top banks in the State. With a CD ration of over 30 percent and gross non-performing asset of 2.5 percent, it ranks in the top bracket amongst the major big banks. Further, its net worth (CRAR) is well over 15 percent. Most of all, the bank is considered to be customer friendly, where every individual customer is offered quality service and treated on a personal level. The customers are attended to promptly and efficiently, and their work is completed in the shortest time possible.

The Bank has four branches – The Shillong Main Branch, the Polo Branch, the Rynjah Branch and the Iewduh Branch with another branch in the pipeline.

The Bank's main objective is to serve the urban poor of the State of Meghalaya especially in the city of Shillong. Besides catering to the business community, the Bank is extending credit facilities to salaried Government employees, and employees in the corporate sector, in the form of housing loans, personal loans, vehicle loans and the like. The Bank also offers facilities like RTGS and cheques at par through its association with Axis Bank. Being a government sponsored bank, all depositors are insured under DICGC

The Bank offers a high interest rate at 5.00 percent per annum on Savings Deposits and the cheapest interest rates on any type of loan, so much so that many individuals have approached the Bank for their credit needs. The bank's aim is to serve the middle and the lower income groups in the urban areas of Shillong.

Integrated Village Cooperative Societies (IVCS)

In the State of Meghalaya, the present network of banking has not been sufficient to meet the demands for financial services of the State's population especially those living in distant villages. In view of this, even for basic banking facilities like deposits, withdrawals and remittances, residents of villages have to traverse long distances. Lack of local staff in bank branches in rural areas resulting in language problems makes banking appear cumbersome, distant and unfriendly to the rural population. Institutions like the Service Cooperative Societies, formerly known as PACS which were created to provide credit for agriculture and allied activities for farmers/ entrepreneurs have not been performing well due to, amongst other factors, large area of operation of the societies.

In view of these issues and after interacting with communities across the State, it has been felt that the local village level community based organisations (CBOs) could be of great help in improving the delivery of technical services and other livelihoods support activities. Firstly, a grass root level institution can better understand the needs of the community and, secondly, it can respond to the related demands in a more flexible and expeditious manner.

Accordingly, the idea of supporting the Integrated Village Cooperative Societies (IVCS) has emerged. These institutions can provide thrift, credit and other financial services to the people. These societies can be formed and promoted by residents of a single village with a minimum of 15 members of which 50% should be women.

What benefits will members get by forming an IVCS ?

The IVCS would be a primary society with multiple services to:

|---|---|
| 01 | Provide access to financial services especially savings and credit to its members |
| 02 | Sell inputs and other essential requirements to members and non-members |
| 03 | Engage in aggregation of crops/products of members with a view to marketing the same advantageously to improve price realisation (and if necessary, to engage in processing activities as well), |
| 04 | Act as a service provider for different entities that would like to reach the village households through the medium of the IVCS for variety of objectives such as marketing of products, as well as function as service agency of financial and non-financial bodies. |
| 05 | Act as a service provider for NGOs, government and other entities that might choose to operate through the IVCS. |
| 06 | Help the community and households to receive, handle and account for funds received under different programmes – such as for NRLM, watershed, forestry, MGNREGA, etc. |
| 07 | Provide better access to markets by which the farmers can reliably sell more produce at higher prices, improving linkages (availability of finance, agricultural inputs, information and output markets) etc., which can help the members upscale and improve their activities. |

Who can be an IVCS member ?

a) Membership in an IVCS will be open to anyone above the age of 18 and lives in the village(s) covered by the IVCS.

b) Minimum of 15 adults can start, as promoters, the process of forming an IVCS.

c) While mobilising membership it has to be ensured that minimum 50% of them are women.

d) The following categories may also be encouraged to become members –

i) Members of Self Help Groups/ Self Help Groups

ii) Entrepreneurs engaged in existing businesses;

How is an IVCS different from a Service Cooperative Society (SCS) formerly known as Primary Agricultural Credit Society (PACS) ?

The table below will explain this question clearly:

| | SCS/ PACS | IVCS |
|---|---|---|
| 01 | Covers many villages with some of them having more than 80 villages under their area of operation.With many villages to serve, most PACS have failed to deliver. | Can be a single-village IVCS.With just one village or two villages to serve, IVCS would be in a better position to provide better services to its members. |
| 02 | SCS/ PACS are Multi-purpose Cooperative Societies. | IVCS are also Multi-purpose Cooperative Societies. Members can save with and avail loan from the Society. Apart from financial services, the IVCS will also sell inputs, articles of daily consumption and market outputs. |
| 03 | In most cases, SCS/ PACS do not have appropriate staff and member participation. | In an IVCS, a trained Secretary will be in place, and he will also be paid a monthly remuneration. Members of the Managing Committee will also undergo a training programme on the various aspects of managing an IVCS. |
| 04 | Partly aided by Government in the form of share capital. SCS/ PACS works with the Government in various areas and requires the support of the Government particularly, for its fund requirement. | Fully owned by members. Government can provide support to the IVCS through a) Corpus fund contribution, etc.b) Meeting the salary expenses of the Secretary, etc., in the initial years of formation of the IVCS. |
| 05 | SCS/ PACS are functioning as per the rules and regulations of the State Government. | IVCS are also functioning as per the rules and regulations of the State Government |

Key messages for the Members

- The IVCS is an institution propagated by the people and is not a government institution. IVCS can take up activities which may include provision of thrift and credit amongst the members, engage in collective procurement and marketing of local produce, act as a service provider for different entities, etc. However, which of the permissible activities to be taken up will be decided by the society itself.
- Loan requirement of members will be met by IVCS – beginning with small loans initially and increasingly larger loans every year, as the Society becomes strong.
- Their equity investment and their patronage is what will make it strong.

NARATIVES OF SOME ACTIVITIES UNDERTAKEN BY DIFFERENT TYPE OF COOPERATIVE SOCIETIES IN THE STATE.

1) HANDLOOM WEAVERS COOPERATIVE SOCIETIES:

- Handloom Weavers Cooperative Societies played a leading role in the economic upliftment of the poor weavers in some pockets of the State like Ri-Bhoi District and Garo Hills Region.
- These Cooperatives have been promoted by Women from these communities to revive their old age traditions that have existed as far back as they can remember, where hand-woven clothing was the attire of the day, with special ones worn only at local festivals, weddings and community feast in their villages.

The main activities of the society is making of handicraft products and to market these products in exhibitions cum sales held within the state and different parts of the country in which the society participated and also through emporiums and other sale outlets located within the state and other parts of the country as well. Besides this the society also markets the handicraft products purchased from other local artisans who hail from within its area of operation

The people of Kenbah – Kenmynsaw has traditionally long been associated with handicraft making. However, during those days handicraft making was a part time activity as most of these people were engage in growing and marketing of Forest Produce and Horticultural produce only. But with the inception of this society the members began to look at handicraft making not only as a part time activity but as a regular work for earning income as they have become aware from their own observation and mainly from information given to them by some Government officials that there is great demand for handicraft products in the state, throughout the country and also abroad. It is because of this understanding about the market potential of handicraft products that Kenbah- Kenmynsaw Handicraft and Multipurpose Cooperative Society Ltd has become one of the leading handicraft cooperative societies in the State of Meghalaya. The Society since inception is run and managed by the managing committee comprising of the Chairman, the Secretary and six other members all elected to the managing committee by the members in the society's Annual General Meeting.

The most unique aspect about this society is the skill of the members in handicraft making i.e. without using any of the modern machineries which are available in today's world, which are more in the making of handicraft products. In this society the members uses simple tools like knives and traditional swords for splitting bamboos and cane. The split bamboos & cane are then woven in to different types of well finished handicraft products e.g. baskets, flower pots and varieties of household decorating items.

The impact that the society has on the economic welfare of the members is enormous. Since these members are now earning a reasonable income from handicraft making which has helped them in running their households and provide them with sustainable livelihood. Apart from this the members get to represent the society in different exhibitions cum sale held within the state and throughout the country which broaden their outlook and improve their skills in handicraft making by learning about other types of techniques in handicraft making, designing, through interaction with other artisans who also participated in such exhibitions hailing from other parts of the state or other parts of the country and by observing the products brought by them. The members also represent their society in different training programmes organized by various departments to enhance their skill in handicraft making so as to enable them in making better quality, well design and top quality finished handicraft products.

The Society's contribution to the community is immense since most of the people of Kenbah and Kenmynsaw are well versed in the art of handicraft making. As a result of this the society encourages these local artisans to engage themselves in handicraft making and the handicraft products made by them are bought by the society and are marketed, there by, helping these local artisans to earned sufficient income from their products. Overall the promotion of handicraft making by the society has greatly increased the earnings capacity not only of the members but other people living in the community falling within the areas of operation of the society, as income generated through handicraft making comes throughout the year and where as in the case of forest and horticultural produce the income yield is seasonal. The cooperative Society also has a Showroom cum Workshop at Mawsynram, which it sells its handicraft products.

Present activities of the society:- The Mendipathar Multipurpose Cooperative Society ltd has been dealing with multiple variety of business such as marketing of rubber sheets and scraps, black pepper, turmeric etc .The society also created saving habits of the members and non-members. Therefore the society started thrift deposit and fixed deposit schemes.

The society is very concerned of climate changes and the need to perfect mother earth and careful use of non renewable energy. The people are encouraged organic farming, use of bio gas, planting of trees and conscious use of water, electricity and recycling of waste .The society has a model farm at Jampara village where Cow dung gas is used in cooking and solar light, utilizing of water many people are taught about it when they come for exposure and training .

Activities :- Rubber Marketing: MMCS began rubber marketing to liberate local rubber growers from the clutches of moneylenders and middlemen, and it continues to be the core of our activities. At present we provide almost the same price as Kerala rubber market, by avoiding various levels of middlemen. The Society also provides rubber tapping and processing materials such as acid, aluminum dishes, tapping knives, cups and other farm inputs at a cheaper rate as these are not available in Garo Hills. Over the past years, the rubber growers have improved their economic condition remarkably.

Marketing black pepper, corn, turmeric etc:

People were selling black pepper just for Rs 10/kg to the middle man. So the Society purchases for 120-220 according to the current market rate and also the corn, turmeric and other items .

Thrift Saving :

In order to encourage saving habits of the people as well as to avoid moneylenders, thrift saving scheme was started in 1998 for the members. It has helped people to become self-reliance and self sustainable, and brought about the desired improvement in living condition. At present the thrift deposit from the members have gone up to about Rs. 56, 00,000/- (fifty six lakhs) only.

Providing essential commodities:

The Society started the consumer shop as price of the essential commodities were very high in the open market. Most of the house holds items are sold at a cheaper price than the market rate . The society provides consumer goods clothes and foot wears, stationeries, crockery, plastic goods, cosmetics and text books. It is greatly appreciated by the general public as they can save some money on marketing.

Poultry Farming:

Nutrition is a big concern due to lack of accessibility of nutritious food stuff. The scarcity of eggs and chicken has been a great concern of the entire Garo Hills. The Society started poultry farm in 2004 for egg and meet purpose as well as to provide chicks to people for rearing, one month old chicks are sold to the people after necessary vaccinations for rearing as the poor have no access to these things.

Dairy Development:

In 2008 with an aspiration to become a model dairy farm for SHGs, other cooperatives and people, the Society started a dairy unit. The main objective is to provide pure milk at cheaper rate than the market and to educate people for Eco-friendly and organic farming, recycling of waste water and Production of Gobar gas from the cow dung.

Formation Self Help Group (SHG):

There are 153 SHGs formed by the Society. The significant development is that people have become aware of the socio-political and economic realities and began to think and act. More than 2000 families are benefited, and have grown in discipline and self-confidence. SHGs need to be clubbed together in order to be powerful and need the support and guidance by an apex body. Many more people have come to request us to help them form SHGs.

Formation of SHGs provide work opportunities for income generation through weaving, making tapioca chips, pickles and jams, bamboo crafts, grocery shops, chicken rearing, arecunut and banana business, ginger cultivation, etc. All these have surely given additional income for them.

Malaria is a great concern in Garo Hills. SHGs are trained on prevention of malaria, nutrition, safe motherhood, health and hygiene.

The success stories of our SHGs motivate others to form groups. The society conducted workshops on the concept of the Co-op movement, train them how to start, and arrange various exposure programs. Many groups from different parts of North East Region have come here to get better ideas about the formation and function of the Cooperatives.

Community Led Total Sanitation:

While many households in Garo Hills have rudimentary toilets, many people go for open defecation in the interior villages. Even though some have Kacha toilets, most of them are unhygienic and unsafe. Against this background, The society join hands with the District administration of East Garo Hills to implement the Community Led Total Sanitation Program (CLTS) since March 2009. The Society facilitated the construction of 1081 individual household toilets in 31 villages. These villages have become open defecation free (ODF). To set off this project, two of our staffs were sent for the training of CLTS, and they moved around the villages to create awareness among the people for 100% safe sanitation. The society is planning to take up another 100 villages in the second phase. Besides this the society has constructed 25 Angawadi toilets and 100 school toilets constructed with the help of East Garo Hills District administration

Social Audit:

The Co-operative has taken up Social Audit of NREGS (National Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme) for the Kharkutta Block in 2009-10 , 2010-11and 2011-12.Social audit is very good tool where the villagers sit together and asses their ongoing activities, with the auditors to give an objective feedback on the progress and direction of the programme. The feedbacks help to improve the management and performance. It also helps to curb the misuse of the funds at various levels.

Empowerment of people through awareness, motivation and Training.

The Society uses all opportunities to empower people through, information, knowledge and skills. Many of interior villagers have not even heard of what is “Right to information” or “what is right to food” and “Right to education”.

This knowledge sharing has helped them to get enlisted as beneficiaries of some schemes. A remarkable improvement is seen in the lives of the people.

Other Activities: The society is at service for the local people through, Fax, computer print Xerox, lamination, color passport photography, atta chacki /rice mill. Also, the society rent the community hall, plastic chairs, water pumps, vehicles and power tiller at a reasonable rate to the people.In this connection the society has purchased another Rice Mill amounting to Rs.1,73,000/-.

Socio-Economic Activities:

Under the socio economic activities of the society, it is found that the society is engaged in formation of SHG, in remote areas under the area of operation, till the end of 31st March 2011 the society formed 153 numbers of SHGs by engaging three number of animators appointed by the society. They trained and guided the SHG’s from time to time .The society is also engaged in eradication of malaria, total sanitation with the help of Medical Mission Sisters,Mendipathar.The society has constructed and repaired the road in Jampara village with the support of Govt.schemes which is benefited by both the society as well as the villagers etc.

The society also encouraged the rubber growers for plantation of rubber, black pepper, coconut, cocoa turmeric, etc in the villages by engaging the staff of the society .In this connection the society arranged for trainings for the purpose by inviting the concern official and growers/farmers.

Awards:

In 2007, the society was selected for Cooperative Excellence Award from NCDC, New Delhi. Again in 2010-11, the society was also selected for the award for the second time. The award was given by the Honorable Union Minister of State for Agriculture Shri. Arun Subash Chabdra Yadav in New Delhi which is handed over to Sr. Rose Kayathinkara, Secretary of the society on 4th February 2011.In this connection ,the society received Rs.50.000/-in cash and a momento in both the occasions. This is due to the remarkable performance and service rendered to the member and non member as observed.

The greatest challenges is to go to the level of people's thinking and makes them to think high to understand the current reality such as globalization, global warming, climate change,etc and its negative impact on the poor people ,response is very poor and it is difficult to change their mindset. Under the able leadership and dedication of Sr. Rose Kayathinkara the founder and Secretary of the society , the society has flourished to the mark of expectation which is unbelievable if the activities and services rendered by the society is not seen by own eyes. The name of Sr. Rose should have to be mentioned again due to that Govt. of Meghalaya has selected her for the Prestigious Meghalaya Day Award which conferred to her on 26th January 2012 in Shillong by his Excellency Governor of Meghalaya for her dedicated services to the cooperative and social works.

WOMEN'S GROUP AND HANDICRAFT MULTIPURPOSE COOPERATIVE SOCIETY LTD.

The Women's Group and Handicraft Multipurpose Cooperative Society started as a self help group with the purpose of fighting poverty and unemployment, a common enemy in rural Meghalaya. In 1999, the women of Madankynsaw, Mowkyndeng under the leadership of Isabella Pakma formed a self help group called Women's Group Madankynsaw SHG. In 2002, the group registered as a cooperative society under the name The Women Group and Handicraft Multipurpose Cooperative Society, at Mookyndeng. The co-operative is a group of unemployed rural women who organized themselves to cooperatively improve their economic condition and social status.

Activities:

The year 2015-2016 has been an eventful and productive year. The women's group has undertaken and initiated numerous activities which prosper and better the standard of the Society and improve the economical condition of many of the artisans as well. The growth is steady but continuous. Many new products are implemented with the help of the training programmes and the products are also standardized. The popularity of the Society among the locals made them to sought help from the Society and even volunteered themselves to join it. Though some of the members and artisans in the Society are poor and illiterate, they dared to challenge many things, even without proper knowledge they reached to different states in the country participating in various exhibitions and other related programmes. This brings great change in their personality.

a) Handicraft: Handicraft is the main activity of the Women's Group. Almost all the members of the Society are craft persons. There are permanent craft persons who trained themselves and also give training to aspiring crafters. These products are kept in the Show-room in Mowkyndeng, and also displayed at the Don Bosco Museum, Shillong, and Guahati. The finest ones are travelling around India through exhibitions, expo and Trade fair's - regional, national and international. Many locals and tourists came to Mowkyndeng visiting the Society and its show-room and end up purchasing one or more crafts items. The main raw materials used in the making of crafts are cane and bamboo and we get these from the local market and neighboring villages. The sofa set, and murah, dry flowers, bouquet are the leading products of the Society.

b) Dry flowers and Accessories: Another product of the Society that gains popularity and draws the attentions of the buyers in the local, national and international markets is the dry flowers. These flowers are special and unique in their features as they do not fade like fresh flowers and are not available in the local markets. These flowers are used as decorative items and also for other official programmes when badges, bouquets are needed.

c) Wood Craft: Wood craft is another leading product of the society that gains much appreciation. Wood craft is done by a handful of talented crafts persons where they craft roots, branches of trees to beautifully crafted images of humans, birds, animals, tree house, key holder, flower vase etc. They also have been certain eye attraction to many spectators and buyers.

d) Jute Craft: The Jute craft has been recognized by the Jute Service Centre from Silchar and they arranged a training program for the group members of the Society and the SHG's under the Society. The recognitions made our people befitted by getting more knowledge and skills through training programmes conducted by them.

e) Vermi Compost: This is another big task to the society; members who are interested in the vermi compost constructed their own vermi compost at home and display it in the Show-room. The waste in the form of bush and shrubs never go wasted as they were all utilized in the making of vermi compost. In fact, the vermin compost proves much better than many chemicals fertilizers.

f) Agriculture: The women are great cultivators in the village, but their involvement in various activities has restricted them to concentrate in one garden only. Their cultivation includes turmeric, maize, soya bean, vegetables etc. The garden was never left uncultivated because the women used seasonal cultivation. The largest quantity among the agricultural products is the Lakadong turmeric as it is the best quality and is highly demanded, next comes ginger, chilly and sesamum. The wastes and weeds collected from the garden are usually taken to the vermi compost house where it is used form the making of vermin compost fertilizers. When the fertilizer is ready, it is sent back to the garden to avoid using chemicals fertilizers as it is harmful.

g) Achar and Pickle preparation: Beef, Dry fish, Mango, Bamboo shoot, Ginger, Wild Apple, Chilly etc., are some of the food items used in the preparation of achar and pickle. These achar and pickle are available throughout the year and are also taken to exhibitions.

h) Show Room: The Society has a show room in Mowkyndeng.

i) Feed mill: The feed mill was donated by the MRDS, Jowai. With the availability of this mill, it brings much profit to the local people and those in the neighboring villages as it saves time and money going and buys food for their cattles. They can get these foods for their cattles easily form the Society.

j) Rain water harvesting: The rain water harvesting is also donated by MRDS, Jowai. This saves the problem from scarcity of water especially during winter season. The water collected from this harvesting is filtered and pure and is useable for any purpose.

k) Common Facility Centre: The Society has one Common Facility Centre where the artisans do the crafts works there and use the machines.

l) Candle Making:- Adding more to the activities, the society introduces candle making to the members.

URLONG TEA INTEGRATED VILLAGE CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY LTD.

Initially, majority of the people in Mawlyngot village earn their livelihood on small scale cultivation of horticultural and agricultural crops like potato, millet, beans, chillies, banana, sesame, etc. However, with the passage of time, the villagers encountered low productivity of their agricultural produce, as the yields of their crops are not commensurated with the input cost. The villagers did not have the opportunity to access modern technology. This resulted in dwindling economic growth of the village thereby aggrieving their living conditions.

In the year 2001, Shri D.L.Nongspung under his vibrant and dynamic leadership, that he took up the opportunity and took up the challenges and work for the social and economic development of the village. He placed forward the idea of tea cultivation in the village, after ascertaining the suitability of the soil and climatic condition for tea cultivation. With this goal in mind, and the support of the hardworking farmers and negotiations with concerned department of the government, that his idea of tea cultivation was conceptualized and conceived.

The main aim of the society is to have a holistic development of the village, that is, integrity of physical, mental and spiritual development of each member of the village. The society had proved itself as a whole.

Initially the society has been registered as Urlong Tea Processing Unit of Tea Grower's Cooperative Society Ltd. However, the society, in order to uplift the economic conditions and to provide better livelihood opportunities to every household in the village had unanimously taken the decision and a resolution was also passed to change the name of the society from the Urlong Tea Processing Unit of Tea Grower's cooperative society Ltd to "Urlong Tea Integrated Village Cooperative Society Ltd".

Therefore, the society has now started functioning as a Village Cooperative Society whereby at least one member from each household has been enrolled, so that every household will benefit in one way or the other from the society. However, if some household refuse to be part of the society, then they are free to exercise their choice

By setting up their own unit, the small tea growers of other states will not be solely dependent on large tea factories for processing their product, thereby reducing exploitation by the large Tea Companies of the North Eastern States to a large extent
- The society has also constructed its own Traveller’s Nest to promote tourism in this part of the state

CONCLUSION:

Tea junction

With the collaborative efforts of the hardworking farmers of the community and Urlong Tea IVCS Ltd, the livelihood and lifestyle of the farmers have improved. Farmers are now, able to send their children to school and they are no longer dependent on seasonal crops nor have they to look for alternate source of earning with the genesis of Urlong Tea IVCS Ltd the farmers are now independent and have an honest source of livelihood.

However, we lack exposure in to this ever growing global market. We are looking for opportunities where we can introduce our product to the global market. We are already in the process of going global. However, we need a better platform to showcase our products.

COOPERATIVE LEADERSHIP AND GOVERNANCE

Contributed by:
SHRI T. KHARSHIING,
Deputy Registrar of Cooperative Societies

The last many years, we have been witnessing drastic changes in all walks of life – be it political, social, economic or technological. These breakthroughs have made the world so competitive, dynamic and one with higher level of expectations on the side of different stakeholders.

The pertinent questions in this scenario, are – can Cooperatives insulate themselves without receiving the challenges by the recent changes? Are we in a position to withstand these challenges?

Here come the need for the emergence of Leadership in Cooperatives and Good Governance. The Cooperative Sector in India with a sizeable human resources as its members and employees needs to focus on leadership development and Governance so as to cope with the challenges of these days.

Cooperative Leadership definition :

- ☞ Setting values & objectives
- ☞ Leading people with them
- ☞ Ability to acquire and organize resources
- ☞ Getting feedback
- ☞ Giving support and trust
- ☞ Determination to achieve objectives
- ☞ Taking responsibilities for critical decisions
- ☞ Standing up for others
- ☞ Resolving conflicts

Attributes of Leadership :

- ☞ Trust – If you trust people to do their best, they won't disappoint you.
- ☞ Communication – If you help others, find more meaning in work than making money, they will do more than out in time.
- ☞ Empowerment – If you share power with others, they will use it to renew themselves and the organization.
- ☞ Teamwork – If you work as a Team to get the job done, you will do better than anyone can do alone.
- ☞ Leadership Styles – If your leadership styles shows that purpose and people are equally important you can transform your organization and thrive in a changing environment.

Qualities of Effective Cooperative Leaders :

1. Ability to hear fully what others are saying:

This implies more than just getting the concept right, it also involves getting the tone right and the affect. Even more subtly, it implies being able to show others that what they've said has been fully heard.

2. Ability to hear critical feedback accurately and with minimal reactivity or defensive:

   Leaders who are poor at this, teach their groups to not bother to attempt it, resulting in, disgruntlement and undermined authority.

3. Ability to respond with openness and curiosity when people disagree: This is about being able to resist the temptation to tense up in the face of divergence and to model excitement instead. The point of operating cooperatively is not to have everyone respond harmoniously, it's to have the richest possible stew of ideas of work with and celebrate when you get it.

4. Ability to report authentically on their emotional state:

   One of the key to effective leadership is coming across as real person. One of the keys to that is being able to share feelings in a way that's both accessible and believable.

5. Knows their weaknesses and doesn't try to bullshit others into thinking they're strong in places where they aren't. This is about knowing what you don't know, and not hiding it.

6. Model interest in learning:

   Leaders are after in the position of teaching others what they know while that's good, it helps a lot if they're also interested in learning from others.

7. Fosters an environment of sharing the stage with others and passing on what they know if the group depends on that skill. Good leaders encourage other to grow into leadership. Part of this is teaching, part of it is getting out of the way, part of it is being gracious when others step up and letting them carry the moment.

8. Ability to appreciate the contributions of others: This is about sharing accolades and making sure they are not too parsimoniously distributed. Group members will be able to contain their enthusiasm for taking on leadership roles, if it's all suffer and no molasses. Good leaders know this and make sure that appreciation flows easily.

9. Protests air time for other voices:

   This is a slightly different version focusing on making it a little safer and a little more welcome for everyone to add their voices.

10. Discipline to use air time consciously and on topic:

    Leaders tend to lose social capital if they are enable to display terminal facility or regularly invite the group to board cross town buses to explore side traffic.

11. Functions well in chaos:

    It can be a combination of no small dimension if a leader can trail blaze a path through dense woods especially when offers feel trapped in the trees.

12. Can function well when the stakes are high:

    It is another analogous skill to be able to perform with grace under pressure. It's one thing to understand the theory of leadership. It's another to be able to think lucidly and act of nuance and effectiveness with the game on the line.

13. Can follow as well as lead in cooperative groups, it tends to be important that the same person is not always the leader. Thus, it follows that each person who is sometimes a leader, is also sometimes not a leader, and it won't go down well if that leader is not a good follower on those occasions when they're not a leadership duty (how can you ask others to repond well to you as a leader of you're not capable of modeling that when you're responding to others as leaders?).

14. Follows through on commitments:

Every time you make a promise you don't keep a little more air escapes from your credibility balloon.

15. Is willing to cheerfully do their share of the grunt work:

A number of these qualities at point 6, 7 and 13 are versions of being able to show range. In this case, it's being willing to sweep the stage after the performance, not just being able to sweep people of their feet when performing on stage.

16. Laugh easily:

This may seem a small thing, but grim leaders ain't that inspiring of course, if they're only laughing at their own jokes, that not much of an improvement.

17. Doesn't act as a matyr :

This means resisting the temptation to use their contributions however unique and/or heroic to pressure people (even subtly) into siding with what the leaders wants and not valuing what others want just as much. The most important version of this involves the leader asking the group support their requests because of all they've sacrificed for the group – regardless of whether the group asked the leader to make those sacrifices.

18. Is able to function gracefully in the face of people reaching with partial information:

This is a tricky one. Leaders often know more of the story than others in the group and it's not usual for leaders to be criticized by group members who don't know the full story. While this is unfair, it goes with the territory, if you need to be loved all the time, think about getting a dog.

19. Comes across as human:

This is a combo characteristic – admitting to failing and intimations without attempting to gain leverage through their articulation.

20. Is good at bridging divergent viewpoints:

This is the ability to bridge between positions such that both parties feel heard and respected, illuminating a pathway of connection that might not have been visible to either side.

Cooperative Movement as a variant of general management has taken shape as a specialized branch of knowledge. The peculiar characteristic of Cooperative Management in relation to other management processes is that of its dual facet wherein, it tries to balance the economic values and the social values. Economic values such as profitability, productivity, efficiency. Market growth, market share, return on investment, etc. At the same time, the management needs to concentrate on the idea of social and ethical values, such as social responsibility, utilitarianism, right justice, etc.

Therefore, the chances for the leadership to be effective are so extensive in the cooperative sector. But to emerge as an effective leadership, it requires effort in the director of getting mastery on various aspects of cooperative management, close liaisoning and interaction between the professional bodies, the individual units and redesign of the norms according to the interests of all the state holders. Effective Leadership can reap better results than non-functional leadership. The need of the hour is the emergent of a committed leadership. In a nutshell, he should be a system thinker having personality trait with a blending of intelligence, creativity and wisdom.

Governance is not government as such; governance is one of the characteristic of any Institution that is concerned with governance, or management of governance. Governance is a small concept at heart; good governance is good government. The concept relates to the quality of the relationship between government had the citizens for whom it exists to serve and protect. Governance means the way those with power use that power.

Cooperative institutions operate within the four wall of the university – accepted Principles and Values of Cooperation. They are little democracies operating at the doorstep of basic members enabling them to make use of their cooperatives to derive social and economic services in the best interest of the community as a whole.

Good Governance emerges through honest application of prevailing laws and respecting the spirit behind these prevailing laws. The cooperative laws for self – interest does not qualify to be called as good governance in cooperatives. People look for a role model, for good governance in cooperatives. People look for a role model, for good governance and people generally respect abide by the rule of law in which they law their faith and trust.

"Cooperative Governance is about striking a fine balance between the process of making the decisions and the process of implementing the decisions."

Cooperative Governance comprises of:

- ☞ Participation
- ☞ Transparency
- ☞ Accountability
- ☞ Anticipation
- ☞ Take care of members need and monitor the same
- ☞ Attract, motivate and retain members
- ☞ Creating a secure and prosperous operating environment for improving performance
- ☞ Responsibility and Power of each stakeholder is defined
- ☞ Manage the Mitigate Risk
- ☞ Elected Leadership Drives the Cooperative
- ☞ Ensures formation of Policy to be driven by both member lead philosophy and business results
- ☞ Create a balance between economic performance and social responsibility
- ☞ Code of conduct to be followed by the Board of Directors/Officers
- ☞ Promote and protect the interest of the Cooperative.

Good Governance refers to the distribution of rights and responsibilities among different participants in the organization such as the Board of Directors (BoD), Management (Officers and Staff), members (Share Holders) and other stake holders (i.e. depont's, lenders/creditors) and spells out rules and procedures for making decisions on corporate affairs. The focus is on business practices and quality of disclosures standards with respect to its equitable treatment of and fairness to the interest of the cooperatives' financial stakeholders.

Difference between Cooperative and Corporate Leadership and Governance:

- Governance in cooperatives is different as compared to Private Enterprises, as the cooperative leaders are to understand and have knowledge about the cooperative philosophy, their own responsibility and role in the management in order to ensure retention of control by the members.
- In cooperatives members have equal rights and representation in the decision making irrespective of their share-holding; while in corporates the representation is decided by the capital invested by the shareholders (more capital more representation).
- Cooperatives are concerned about the member development alongwith the organizational growth, while corporate are concerned only about self interest.
- Wealth generated by the cooperatives remains within the cooperatives for their members whereas in cooperatives the wealth generally flows out.
- Corporate cause the invasion on local culture and values, whereas the cooperatives take care of the social and cultural needs of the members and thus preserve the local culture and values.
- Leadership in cooperatives is a fusion of professional Managers and Elected Representatives whereas in Corporates Leadership is either by inheritance of by Dynasty.
- Corporates complete with each for large profits and supremacy at the cost of morality, social equality and honesty whereas cooperatives co-operate with each other for the overall development of the community.
- Corporate bring their own Brands and Goods; and impose them without caring for the need of local masses whereas the cooperative are need-driven of members; as the members are the consumer of goods.
- Corporates are involved in the process of mergers and acquisition for their profit whereas cooperatives support each other and even work for revitalization of weak cooperates.
- Cooperatives fallow healthy management practices, established values and principles in all its decisions while corporates do not have such commitments.

LIMITING FACTORS TO EFFECTIVE COOPERATIVE GOVERNANCE:

- Protection of Cooperative Identity:
- Government Directors
- Board of Directors
- Enthuse the members for their Active Participation.
- No visible benefit thus members lose interest.
- Leadership – Non conversant with the Business.
- Professional Manage weighs over elected leadership.

Thus member needs are not taken into Account.

- Do not provide right/adequate information to elected leadership.
- Inadequate independence of the Board.
- Lack of proper monitoring and supervision.

- ☞ Elected Board of Directors do invest enough time for Board affairs.
- ☞ Board Committees if not elected will not have high effectiveness.

ROLE OF THE GOVERNMENT:

- ☞ Recognize Cooperatives as distinct and major stakeholder in Economy both nationally and internationally.
- ☞ Promotes leadership growth in cooperatives.
- ☞ Education to members in Pre-formative phase of cooperatives.
- ☞ Should have a keen eye on affairs of cooperative.
- ☞ Provide framework of Legislation conducive to the formation of cooperatives, growth oriented, member friendly and business oriented.
- ☞ Government Assistance to cooperatives – so that Autonomy of the cooperatives is maintained.

ROLE OF COOPERATIVE:

- ☞ Try to maintain their autonomy and independence.
- ☞ Ensures that cooperative leadership is subservient to the member shareholders.

  Protect rights and Ensures Equal Treatment to all shareholders.
- ☞ Recognizes the role of "Professional Managers" and respect them.
- ☞ Ensures accountability to members.
- ☞ Transparent Decision on Merit.
- ☞ Education and Training to members/employees.
- ☞ Innovative and alive to new Market/Product Development.

The changing trend of economic empowerment need the cooperatives to improve the administration, business control system and to provide them a competitive edge in this changed scenario. Which is the main aspects of Good Cooperative Governance.
